Episode 138: How to Balance Life and Work with Dr Claire Kaye

How do you find the right balance between life and work? We often think we need to dedicate a certain percentage of our time to work and the rest to life. But have we ever thought that work itself is a part of life?

Perhaps instead of work-life balance, what we need is to balance our life around the things that truly matter to us. This may be a combination of work, family, exercise, and other things. How that balance looks is different for everyone at various points in our respective lives.

In this episode of You are Not a Frog, Rachel and Dr Claire Kaye talk about the challenge of attaining holistic life balance, especially for working professionals. Claire shares the importance of being intentional about setting boundaries, and she also gives actionable steps to navigate a joyful, balanced life.

Quote to remember:

'Work isn't separate to life; it's part of our lives.

And until we start accepting it as a part of it, I don't think we can ever have balance.'

What You Will Learn

For some people, work needs to be 50% of their life. Meanwhile, other people can dedicate 80% of their life to work, all while remaining happy and thriving. It's different for everyone.

To attain holistic life balance, you need to get to know yourself and find out the things that truly matter to you. What are your priorities? What aspects of your life need more time and effort from you?

Furthermore, life balance is not static. The course of your life and the environment you move in constantly changes, so do your interests and desires. Hence, having balance is a constant effort of understanding yourself and re-prioritising around that.

Claire and Rachel shared actionable steps you can take to achieve balance and joy in your life. This workbook will help you walk through some of those steps. It will push you to think about where you are spending the majority of your life, what your priorities are, and what adjustments need to be made.

Remember, it will not always be perfect. What matters is you do not stop trying.
